Description/Connection to novel: This kids' ride represents how Tara runs out of her Buck's Peak house and climbs onto the red railway car "that sits abandoned next to the barn" as a seven-year-old girl. Guests will feel winds produced by large fans, as if the mountain that has been built in our park to represent the peak "is exhaling." There will also be lots of "heavy conifer trees" and other bushes/growth; this ride conveys a set-up of being outdoors in nature/at Buck's Peak. There will be "gentle hill slopes" for the little kids to climb up and down, but the mountain itself will be off-limits (around that area will be horse-riding, one of our other rides).

Junkyard Play

Adventure Park

In this ride, kids will also have an area to dig holes and bury items such as fake canned peaches in order to prepare for the End (there will be park attendants supervising the guests and these attendants will be constantly telling the kids about preparing for the End as Tara's father did). There will also be the junkyard in this ride with lots of junk and rusty metal pieces for the guests to play with to their heart's content. The final feature of this ride that we would like to highlight is that "on the highway below," the School Bus Transportation Ride "rolls past without stopping."

EDULAND RIDES PAMPHLET

Description/Connection to novel:

This ride is meant to proceed Shawn's horse taming show. Guests can meet Shawn's horses and have a first-hand experience riding them up and down the little slopes around the mountain. They will feel the air on their faces and feel the rush of excitement horse-riding brings. Shawn will lead the group through hills and grass before making their way back to the barnyard. Children can also brave the danger of riding on their own and learn to become independent individuals just like Tara. There is no need to take safety precautions.

Description/Connection to novel:

Guests will be able to experience Tara's fall off the trailer (without actually falling off). First, all the guests will climb into the bin. They will sit in seats made of lengths of iron. As the park attendant starts the ride, he will announce that "This will be a fast ride, time is still stalking!" as the reason for Tara's accident is that her Dad thinks "No, this'll be faster" than a safer option. Then, forks will be jammed under the bin, lifting the riders, and the bin will be driven "full throttle, toward the trailer's head." Guest should barely be able to hold on and there will not be seatbelts as they have been uninstalled. The bin will travel until it is level with the trailer, then raise "another eight feet—dumping position," then begin a tilt, "slowly at first, then quickly." Guests will feel pinned to their seat and want to scream but there will not be "a pitch [that can] pierce through the drone of the engine." Finally, guests will experience falling from the bin, facing up and "seeing only blue sky." They will first fall "seven or eight feet," then the bin will stop a bit for dramatic effect, and "the second [will be] perhaps ten." The end of the ride will be marked by a machine spraying a bit of dirt in the guests' faces for "perhaps fifteen seconds before the engine [will] growl to silence." To exit the ride, guests must cross the pasture for the ultimate experience as Tara has to cross the fields to get Mother to stop the bleeding.

EDULAND CHARACTERS PAMPHLET

Gene Westover

Where you can find them: You can find Gene Westover in the Bucks Peak area of campus.

What to expect when meeting them:

Tara's dad played a huge role in her childhood, shaping her beliefs and personality to what is considered acceptable. While interacting with Gene, you can expect a horrible and haunting experience. He will heckle you and your company while watching your every move. Preaching his beliefs about Mormonism, prepping, and Y2K is his main personality traits, so if you feel uncomfortable with any of these topics, please do not interact with him. He will chase after you and keep you in the Bucks Peak portion of the park, so be careful. Remember to purchase your own copy of Gene's Holy Bible so he can guide you through some of the exercises and sign it for you.

Tara Westover

Where you can find them: You will be able to find Tara in each section of the campus but you may have to line up to meet her at Cambridge.

What to expect while meeting them:

Bucks Peak Tara: While in Bucks Peak, you will spot Tara accompanying her father in a modest outfit. She may look a little dirty and bruised but this is how life has always been for her.

Bring Your Own Education Tara: In this part of the park, Tara's curiosity has been unlocked. Although a little shy, Tara is ready to take on new adventures and even socializes with people who are not socialists.

Cambridge Tara: If you want to see Tara thriving, come see her at Cambridge! She may be a little busy, but you can guarantee yourself some time with her. You can purchase your own copy of her book Educated: A Memoir and have her sign it when you meet her.

Shawn Westover

Where you can find them: You will be able to find Shawn in the Bucks Peak and Bring Your Own Education areas on campus.

What to expect when meeting them: Shawn had a lot of control over Tara during her teen years and the years before she cut off her family. His violent and threatening presence helped push Tara away from her family. You may spot Shawn around the park carrying a handgun or bloody knife (make sure not to bring your pets). Shawn may be abusive and disrespectful to park guests. As a result, he will often be found fighting Tyler, be sure to stay out of the way. You can watch Shawn's daily horse taming show down at the horse pen.

Tyler Westover

Where you can find them: You will be able to hang out with Tyler Westover throughout the entire park.

What to expect while meeting them: Tyler has been a huge support to Tara throughout her life and education. Tyler himself is a very kind and welcoming person. You will find him complimenting others and encouraging them to truly discover the park and see attractions. He will often be standing up for others and protecting them from Shawn's heckling and disrespect.

EDULAND MERCHANDISE PAMPHLET

Gene's Holy Bible Journal - $23.00 USD

Description/Connection to novel: This is a fill-in notebook that guides you through journaling your life experiences. It is a spiral-bound book filled with questions and prompts to respond to. All prompts are written by self-appointed expert on living, Gene Westover. It's a great introduction to your end of the world prepping and other living off-grid ideas that Gene encourages. You can also use this journal to record Gene's important, impromptu ideas when he goes on one of his many rants. This product is at our park because of how Gene dictated Tara's journal and how she saw the world for so long. She would always keep track of Gene's recent ideas in her journal and now you can try it too. Though, in the end, Tara found true power in filling in her journal the way she wanted.

Homeschool Apparel - $50.00 USD

Description/Connection to novel: This is a homeschool version of some different classic school apparel. This can be purchased in the BYOE section of the campus. This merchandise is at our theme park because of Tara's experience when she went to BYU. All the other students there had experiences at their past schools that they could use. Tara didn't want to feel left out because she had never been to a school. This hoodie is so that any other homeschooled people who come to our park can feel included with the education they have.

EDULAND SHOWS PAMPHLET

The California Socialism Choir and Dance Parade 2-4 p.m. Daily

What's in store for the show: Youth dance troops from around the country are invited to sing and dance in the daily parade (except Sundays of course). The children all dress in the same dance costume, huge sparkly gray hoodies. They will perform down the streets of the theme park singing and dancing to the latest Kidz pop hits.

Why is it at our park: Tara's experiences with dance and choir are something that started her on her road to exploring further education. Though to her dad, those kinds of experiences will bring everyone to socialism. We have this in our park to allow different young girls around the world to celebrate their learning in the performing arts even if the Gene Westovers at the park believe it is wrong.

LaRee's
Essential
Essential Oil
Seminar
4-5:30 p.m.
Thursdays

What's in store for the show: LaRee Westover (Tara's mom) will be teaching the audience the benefits of essential oils as well as teaching some simple remedy recipes. This show with LaRee is very exclusive because she has become a true expert in her field. From solving aches and pains to putting more zest in your life LaRee's essential essential oils.

ZEST (FOR LIVING)

¹Assurance, ¹Energy, ¹Exhilaration diffuse; inhale; wear as perfume

STROKE

¹Kadence, ¹Key to My Heart, ¹Vitality breathe deeply; apply to neck and forehead

Why is it at our park: Tara's mom throughout "Educated" grows her skills in making herbal remedies. This theme is important in every stage of her life because it affects Tara's relationship with the medical system. Tara learns from her mom and the injuries she and her family experienced throughout the story are always healed by her mom. In the later parts of the book, her mom's business really changes the way that their family runs and is also something that is still up and running after the book ends.

What's in store for the show: Your host Shawn Westover will be attempting to tame a new horse every day. Once trapping them in the small pen he will try to tame the horses using strategies of going slow and gaining their trust or sometimes a more brutal approach if the horse does something he does not like. Shawn performs this show daily, yet at the end of every show he fails, the horse gets loose and is able to get to the nice family farm across the road. Will he be able to tame the horse one day? Come to the show to find out.

Why is it at our park:

Shawn does have experience in taming horses but this show is more of a metaphor. Shawn throughout the book was trying to tame Tara in way. Drawing her in with kindness but being horrible to her the second she does something for herself that he dislikes. Just like the horse in the show though even if Shawn tries to hold her back she is able to get out and live her life for herself.
